

Portrait of a Thriving Youth

Self Reflection Tool

Portrait Of A Thriving Youth Self-Assessment

This self-assessment can help you reflect on how well your program, setting, or system is supporting thriving with regard to the six domains of adolescent learning and development described in a Portrait of a Thriving Youth.

Instructions: (1) For each of the domains of thriving listed in the chart, consider whether it is a priority for your work and if so, how well you are supporting it on a scale of 1 to 5. (2) Then, consider the reflection questions at the end of this worksheet.

- 1 = This domain of development is not a priority for my work
- 2 = This domain of development is a low priority for my work
- 3 = This domain of development is a priority, but we are not supporting it adequately
- 4 = This domain of development is a priority, and we have many supports in place
- 5 = This domain of development is a priority, and we have a robust set of supports in place

Domains of Adolescent Development

Health: Physical

Establishing healthy physical behaviors

- ▶ Exercising and developing healthy eating habits
- ▶ Getting adequate sleep and rest
- ▶ Understanding and establishing self-care and personal hygiene practices

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Health: Mental

Developing psychological & social well-being

- ▶ Developing the ability to recognize and manage stress and anxiety
- ▶ Cultivating strategies for coping with stress, challenges, and setbacks
- ▶ Having a positive sense of self-worth

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Acquiring the skills, knowledge, & abilities to achieve goals & objectives

- ▶ Fostering curiosity and critical thinking
- ▶ Building capacity for self-reflection
- ▶ Applying learning to new settings

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Exploring identities and figuring out who they are now & who they want to be

- ▶ Exploring and reflecting on one's self as an individual
- ▶ Exploring and reflecting on how collective identities fit into one's sense of self
- ▶ Establishing a sense of self-worth and positive self-image

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Exploring how to meaningfully connect & contribute to the world around them

- ▶ Seeking diversity of perspectives
- ▶ Exploring personal interests
- ▶ Developing character and tapping into a moral compass

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Emotion

Identifying emotions & how to manage them in positive ways

- ▶ Being able to self-regulate
- ▶ Expressing emotions that are relevant to a setting or experience
- ▶ Understanding and practicing empathy

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Social

Developing trusting & reliable relationships & navigating diverse social contexts

- ▶ Knowing social norms and having the skills to address them
- ▶ Knowing how to engage with and manage the safe navigation of social media
- ▶ Demonstrating respect and appreciation for self and others

1: Not a priority 2: Low priority 3: Priority but we are not doing it well 4: Priority with many of the supports in place 5: Priority with a robust set of support in place

Reflection Questions

1. For the domains that you indicated are a priority with a robust set of supports in place (rating = 5), what are those key supports that you could potentially tap into to improve in other domains? Consider: resources, professional development/training, staffing, organizational policies, partnerships, advocacy, political will.
2. For the domains that you indicated are a priority but without a robust set of supports (rating = 3 or 4), what are the barriers you are facing to improving support in those areas? Consider: resources, professional development/training, staffing, organizational policies, partnerships, advocacy, political will.
3. For the domains that you indicated were not a priority or a low priority, do you think you should make them a priority for your work? What would it take to do that? Consider: resources, professional development/training, staffing, organizational policies, partnerships, advocacy, political will.
4. For those areas that you indicated are not a priority, are there other programs in your community that address those areas? If so, could you build partnerships with such organizations to refer youth who might benefit from such a focus?

